DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Objections

2. Applicant is advised that should claim 11 be found allowable, claim 18 will be objected to under 37 CFR 1.75 as being a substantial duplicate thereof. When two claims in an application are duplicates or else are so close in content that they both cover the same thing, despite a slight difference in wording, it is proper after allowing one claim to object to the other as being a substantial duplicate of the allowed claim. See MPEP § 706.03(k).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kawano et al. (JP 2000-318904) in view of Sako et al. (US 6,073,927). Kawano et al. discloses a sheet feeder that includes a drive roller unit with a perpendicular shaft (see Figure 11 element 15), a driven roller unit with the driven roller axis disposed at a slant (see Figure 13b elements 16), a plurality of driven rollers (see Figure 13 elements 16b and 16c) paired with the same number of driving rollers (see Figure 11 elements 15b and 15c), an urging member (see Figure 11 elements 52), a curved sheet conveying path (see Figure 10 element b), and the driven roller is inclined at an angle of  $1^{\circ}$ - $3^{\circ}$  (page 6 paragraph 0075). Kawano et al. does not disclose a coefficient of friction of an outer layer of the driven roller being smaller than a coefficient of friction of an outer layer of the drive roller. However, Sako et al. discloses a similar device that includes a coefficient of friction of an outer layer of the driven roller being smaller than a coefficient of friction of an outer layer of the drive roller (column 6 lines 13-20) for the purpose of easily sliding against each other (column 6 lines 13-20). It would have been obvious for a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the applicant's invention to modify Kawano et al. by utilizing a coefficient of friction of an outer layer of the driven roller being smaller than a coefficient of friction of an outer layer of the drive roller, as disclosed by Sako et al., for the purpose of easily sliding against each other.
